++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry with sunny spells, cloudier later.

Today:
A fine and dry start for most with sunny spells and variable cloud. However, becoming increasingly cloudy toward midday as areas of thicker cloud move eastward for a time this afternoon. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Tonight:
Any lingering patchy cloud should break to clear spells this evening. Remaining clear and dry for most overnight, but with areas of fog developing to the south of London. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Saturday:
A dry morning with sunny spells. Becoming rather cloudy through the afternoon and evening, perhaps with outbreaks of light rain later, these mainly in the west. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Mostly unsettled with spells of rain or showers on Sunday. Cooler from Monday but with drier and brighter spells more likely. Confidence remains low for details.
